London, January 22.—British submarine K-5, Commander John A. Gaines, was lost with all hands Thursday at the approach to the English Channel, the Admiralty announced this afternoon.

The disaster occurred 100 miles from Land's End. A full complement of officers and men was aboard. Vessels of this class carry approximately six officers and fifty men.

The K class of submarine is the latest type of British submarine, the vessel being 338 feet in length with a surface speed of twenty-four knots and a speed submerged of nine knots.

They carry eight torpedo tubes, one four-inch gun and one three-inch gun. The cause of the disaster is not known.

TAX COMMISSION ENDS HEARINGS ON RE-APPRAISAL

(By Associated Press)

Columbus, O., January 22.—After a solid week spent largely in hearing protests against its order for a reappraisal of real estate in 61 counties of Ohio, the State Tax Commission today announced it will hear no more arguments on the subject.

Farmers' organizations were unanimous against the reappraisal order, arguing that with the decline in prices of their products and a deflation in values there was no way of determining the value of farm lands at this time.

Some professed the belief that a reappraisal in their counties at this time would almost cause a riot. Delegations from Cleveland and other cities favored a reappraisal, saying that their property had been reappraised and increased and that it was not fair to them to allow 61 counties in Ohio to remain unchanged. In many of them there had been no reappraisal since 1910.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 22.—An investigation of the contracts between the International Mercantile Marine Company, an American corporation, and the British government will be conducted by the Shipping Board next Thursday, it was announced today.

An opportunity will be given P. A. S. Franklin, president of the company, and others interested, to be heard.

In announcing the action of the board, Frederick L. Thompson, the vice chairman, said it was "the opinion of the commissioners present that no issue of larger moment affecting the establishment and permanency of an American merchant marine had come before the present board for consideration."

WILD MAN AND WIFE DRIVEN FROM RETREAT

(By Associated Press)

Laurel, Miss., January 22.—Driven from his cabin in the swamps along Leaf River by high water, Albert Parsons, an aged white man, and a woman who says she is his wife were brought to Laurel today and placed in the county poor house.

The finding of Parsons is believed to set at rest the reports of a wild man, current for years, said to be living in this section. Parsons says that he and his wife lived on wild roots, berries and what animals they were able to catch.

With them when found was a child which, inspite of the cold, was entirely without clothing. Parsons told the sheriff that he caught his wife in a steel trap many years ago.

Only Mass of Charred Flesh and Bone in Smouldering Ruins

Attempt to Start Fire With Kerosene Responsible for Tragedy
Which Is Without Parallel County.

Mrs. James Adkins, her four children and an uncle, Walter Bennett were burned to death at an early hour Sunday morning when the house in which they lived on the N. S. Tway farm in Paint township was destroyed by fire originating from an explosion of kerosene in which James Adkins was fatally burned while using the fluid to kindle a fire.

THE DEAD

Mrs. James Adkins, thirty-two years.
Gracie Adkins, fourteen years.
Cleona Adkins, ten years.
Namoia Ruth Adkins, 4 years.
Freeda Lois Adkins, three weeks.
Walter Bennett, seventy years.

After the explosion the husband and father, James Adkins, with only scraps of clothing clinging to him and portion of a mile to summon help but his efforts were all in vain and the little house with his sleeping family was speedily reduced to ruins and the six bodies were burned so that they bore no resemblance to human beings.

The only survivor of the family, James Adkins, is now in the Cherry Hill hospital with no hope of his recovery, and death expected at any hour. Adkins had arisen at the call of his wife to prepare some homeremedy for the little babe which was threatened with the croup. He had been sleeping in an upstairs room.

In attempting to kindle a fire hurriedly he placed some wood upon a smouldering fire in a heating stove and then poured coal oil into the stove. An instant later there was a flash and a dull explosion which threw the burning fluid all over the room and upon the bed in which the mother and babe were reposing.

With his scant attire a mass of flames Adkins rushed out of the house and rolled in the mud, endeavoring to extinguish the flames which were eating into his flesh, fed by the kerosene. Whether the mother had again fallen to sleep or was immediately overcome by the flames and could not escape, is not clear. But a few moments after rolling in the mud the crazed man, with scraps of the smoldering clothing clinging to him, went to a side window of the room in which the explosion had occurred. The room was a mass of flames which drove him back as he sought entrance.

Bent on obtaining help from his nearest neighbor, Weller Montgomery, also a resident of the Tway farm, Adkins ran screaming with pain toward the Montgomery home, leaving pieces of charred skin clinging to fences over which he plunged, and at last reached the door of Montgomery's home, where he beat and screamed until Montgomery appeared badly frightened by the commotion.

AIDS INJURED MAN

Falling into the room, bleeding, mud-covered, virtually naked Adkins could only scream: "My family is burning up! Oh, My God! My family is burning up!"

Taking a hurried look toward the Adkins home, Montgomery saw the flames leaping above the small trees intervening, and believing that the family had really perished as well as being dazed by the sudden awakening and sight that met him when he admitted Adkins, he turned his attention toward relieving the tortured man. He was wrapped in a quilt and Dr. Meade, of Sedalia, was called.

It was nearly an hour before any one reached the house in which the sleepers had been trapped and by that time little remained of the lightly constructed house, while the odor arising from the flames told that human beings had perished.

MIGHT HAVE SAVED THEM

Elbert Knisley was the first man to arrive, and by the condition of the house at that time it is thought that had assistance gone at the first alarm the three children, Gracie, Cleona and Naomia Ruth, and the aged uncle, sleeping in an upstairs room, could have been saved by means of an upstairs window.

Just what happened to the victims will never be known—whether they were aroused and sought to escape only to find their way cut off or whether they were suffocated or literally roasted alive.

It is the opinion of Undertaker E. A. Klever, who was summoned to bring the injured man to the Cherry Hill hospital, that Mrs. Adkins endeavored to reach the door, but was overcome by the flames and fell.

BODIES CHARRED HEAPS

As the fire burned itself out the six bodies were seen almost in one heap, and before the burning torsos were finally drenched with water about 8:30 o'clock, only charred remnants of flesh and bone remained of the six bodies.

Evidently the mother and babe were burned almost entirely up, and the bones of the three little girls and the uncle fell amid the ruins upon the bodies on the first floor.

BODIES ALLOWED TO BURN

Until representatives of The Herald reached the scene about 8:30 the bodies were allowed to burn, and with the aid of bystanders water was carried and poured over the blazing, smouldering torsos until the fire was extinguished. No effort had been made to rescue the bodies.

LEAVES PART OF HAND

In the mud in the rear of the house, where Adkins rolled to extinguish the flames, the entire skin and finger nails from one hand, much resembling a rubber glove was held fast in the furnace.

and had bore mute evidence of the burns sustained by the man.

BROUGHT TO THIS CITY

Undertaker Klever, accompanied by Coroner Lininger, reached the scene to remove what was left of the bodies, about ten o'clock, and the charred masses which could be placed in a bishel basket, were brought to this city for interment.

Undertaker Klever previously had removed Adkins to the Cherry Hill hospital, where is hovering between life and death, with little or no hope of his recovery. Two thirds of his body was blistered and seared.

Mrs. Adkins, formerly Miss Rosie Bennett, leaves a number of relatives in this county, brothers being Frank, John and Curtis, all living north of Bloomingburg. A sister, Mrs. Mamie Hines resides near Black Oak school house. The family had been in very poor circumstances.

Prior to moving to the Tway farm, Adkins lived on the Frank L. Parrott farm on the Hays road, four miles north of this city.

The charred remains of the six bodies will be placed in one casket and interment made in one grave in the Washington cemetery, Monday afternoon at two o'clock.

The tragedy is one of the worst in the annals of Fayette county.

HIGHWAY LETTING ORDERED HELD UP

(By Associated Press)

Columbus, O., January 22.—The last letting of road contracts by the state highway department, December 31, amounting to $3,000,000, is being investigated by Governor Davis and the legislative reorganization committee, it became known today.

Leon C. Herrick, of Norwalk, new highway commissioner appointed by Governor Davis yesterday, will be instructed when he takes office Monday, it is said, to hold up these contracts and ask for new estimates.

A. R. Taylor, former Democratic state highway commissioner declared today that the new contracts had all been let and signed and nothing short of court action could stop their being carried out.

HOUSE USED BY HARDING BURNS PAPERS SAVED

(By Associated Press)

Marion, January 23.—The residence of George B. Christian, Jr., next door to the home of President-elect Harding and used by him as his headquarters, was destroyed by fire this morning.

All campaign documents stored in the building, although some what damaged by water are thought to have been saved. The desk at which the President-elect met in conference with the "best minds" of the country also was removed from the burning building but slightly marred by the flames. The fire started from an overheated

HUNDREDS OF SYMPATHIZERS GREET MARTENS

(By Associated Press)

New York, January 22.—Hundreds sympathizing with Soviet Russia today crowded the pier to bid farewell to Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, unrecognized Soviet ambassador to America, and his staff who were deported on the steamer Stockholm under order of Secretary of Labor Wilson.

Carrying a bouquet of red carnations, symbol of his government, in one arm and his three year old daughter in the other Martens struggled through the crowd and was swamped with kisses from both men and women, and handshakes and slaps upon the back. It took Martens nearly half an hour to shove his way through the crowds to the gangplank.

SERIOUS FIRE IN SPRING- FIELD

(By Associated Press)

Springfield, January 23.—Damage estimated at 250,000 was caused here early Sunday morning when fire destroyed the Commercial Building, in the heart of the business district. Firemen fought the fire for five hours before getting it under control.

At one time, it was thought that it would be necessary to obtain aid from neighboring cities, and Dayton firemen were in readiness to come to the assistance of the local firefighters.

The fire destroyed the Kaufman store and McCorry's five and ten cent store, which were located in the Commercial Building. The loss to the building is placed at $100,000 and the loss to the two stores at $150,000.

Losses by smoke and water at adjacent stores may bring the total to $300,000. Three firemen were injured while fighting the flames, none seriously.

NEW YORK SEES A RENEWAL OF WAVE OF CRIME

(By Associated Press)

New York, January 23.—A recurrence of crime, including three deaths, two men dying in hospitals from injuries inflicted by highwayman and five hold-ups, featured the week end operations of criminals in greater New York and its environs.

One man was shot to death on a crowded street in broad daylight and another was killed in an attempt to prevent the robbery of a store of East Forty-Second Street, while the third, an eighteen-year-old choir boy, was found dead on railroad tracks near Richmond Hill with several bones broken and his head lacerated.

Armed automobile bandits operating near Tarrytown obtained loot valued at more than ten thousand dollars today when they held up automobile parties and milk wagons.

CHARGES ENGLAND BUSY IN RUSSIA

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 22.—Senator France, Republican, of Maryland, charged in the Senate today that the American government was being influenced by the British government not to trade with Russia and that meantime British merchants were monopolizing the Russian market.

He asserted that Bolshevism and communism do not exist in Russia, adding that they had given way to "the more sound theories of government."

Referring to what he said was "the necessity of developing friendly relations with Russia" the Maryland senator declared the "time will come when the United States and Japan will be at war."

He added that the way to meet this danger was to create better relations with Russia.

NIGHT RIDERS VISIT FARMERS WITH WARNING

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., January 23.—Night riders Saturday night visited farmers in Bath and Fleming Counties and warned them not to haul any more tobacco to market until prices were higher, according to reports tonight.

The reports, received from Mt. Sterling, Carlisle and Flemingsburg said that the growers were warned that barns would be burned and that they would be dealt with severely unless they complied.

MEETING OF COUNCIL IS IMPORTANT

(By Associated Press)

Paris, January 23.—The meeting of the Supreme Council, which will begin tomorrow morning is regarded in France as second in importance only to the deliberations from which came the treaty of Versailles.

The duration of the new ministry of Aristide Briand, it is generally understood, will depend upon this meeting and the results the Premier will be able to bring from the Council to the Chamber of Deputies. The general feeling over the situation is optimistic. The questions to be discussed will come up in the following order: Disarmament of Germany, reparations; Turkey and Greece and the treaty of Sevres, war debts between the Allies and Austria, exchange and relations between the Allies and the United States.

TWO VICTORIES OVER HILLSBORO BY LOCAL HIGH

Washington Wins First Game of Season in Close Contest.

Girls Varsity Decisively De- feats Hillsboro Girls.

Washington High School was twice triumphant on the local floor Friday evening when the Varsity won its first game of the season from Hillsboro High, 18 to 15, and the Girls' Varsity defeated the Hillsboro girls even more decisively, 19 to 12.

It was the third game of the season for the Washington High team and the fans turned out in an exceptional manner to welcome the squad on the home floor. The cramped basket ball gymnasium was packed when the game was called.

Excellent defensive work on the part of both teams held down the score. Washington was leading at the end of the first period, 8 to 5.

Stubborn defensive work and basket shooting from long angles featured the second and deciding half. Washington High maintained its slender lead and not until the contest was over was the decision a certainty for the Blue and White.

Cochran Moorhead placed on the floor a lineup that promises even greater victories than that registered over the Hillsboro lads. Every man on the squad is a crack guard and a five man defense is worked admirably.

Prump is captain and center of the Hillsboro team and his playing was perhaps the bright light for the visitors. He did not, however, outrank at the center position the Washington pivot man, "Barney" Perrill, who last year held down a guard corner.

Because of the fact that the Hillsboro and Washington colors are identical, it was necessary for the local squad to wear the uniforms of the Y.
 M. C. A. team.

The Lineup

Washington High—Tom Rogers, lf;
 John Deen, rf; Willard Perrill, c;
 Frank Beck, lg; Carrol Flee, rg.

Hillsboro High—Joseph, lf; Foley, rf; Prump; Looker, rg; Williams, lg Referee—Ogan.

Timer—W. W. Hamilton.

Girls Win Another

By defeating the Hillsboro Girls' Varsity 19 to 12, the Washington girls won their second game of the season.
 In many respects it was similar to the regular varsity contest. Fast guarding and some nice goal shooting gave the fair defenders of the Blue and White a lead that Hillsboro's best could not equal.

As in the game with Sabina two weeks ago, Helen Karney led in the scoring and partner at the other forward, Elizabeth Morris, could not be held down by the Hillsboro guards.

Gale Bowen and Florence Bliss played the visiting forwards to the limit and held down the score. Katherine McLean and Bernadine Norris were the Washington centers who worked the ball up the floor time after time.

The Hillsboro lineup was as follows: Smith and George, centers; Beane and Rhoades, forwards; Strane and Barker, guards.

Seniors vs Sophomores

In a preliminary game the Seniors were subjected to a defeat at the hands of the Sophomores by a score of 14 to 8. Both teams showed promising varsity material.

Lineups:

Sophomores—Snyder and Baker, forwards; Hamilton, center; Davidson and Kinnen, guards.

Seniors—Jones and Frey, forwards;
 Hegler, ceter; Rine and Davis, guards
 Deere for Rine; Bolen for Frey.

CARE OF FURNACE

The furnace cannot work properly unless the flue is at least 8 by 8 inches 8 by 12 inches is better.

The furnace chimney flue should have no other openings into it but the furnace smoke pipe.

Keep the fire box surfaces and flues clean. A crust of soot 1/4 inch requires 50 percent more fuel than when surfaces are clean.

Do not let ashes bank up under the grate in the ash pit. Put but little coal on a low fire. Carry a high fire; the live coals should come up to the feed door. In moderate weather there should be 2 to 6 inches of ashes between the livecoals and the grate.

Attend the furnace from two to four times a day. In mild weather, morning and night is usually often enough. In cold weather, in early morning, again at noon, again at 5 or 6 and last at 9 to 11 in the evening.

Give the furnace the most thorough attention at this last firing. Clean the bottom of the firepot of ashes and fill the pot with fuel. Leave a little of the flame exposed to burn the escaping gases. If the furnace has received this attention at night, the draft may be opened in morning for half an hour

McCLAIN SUFFERS ITS FIRST DEFEAT

One Lone Point Noses Out The Greenfield Quintet In Hard Game.

After winning eleven straight games McClain High School of Greenfield suffered its first defeat of the season Friday night when nosed out by Xenia High School by one lone point. The score was 27 to 26. McClain gymnasium was the scene of the conflict.

The point that won for Xenia was made when a McClain substitute failed to report to the referee and the foul which resulted was turned into a point. McClain made more field goals than Xenia but failed to shoot fouls. Xenia turned in eight out of a possible twelve while McClain manufactured but three out of a possible eleven.

Abram, of Cincinnati, was the referee. He stated after the game that in the clash between McClain and Xenia he saw two of the fastest teams he had ever witnessed on the basketball floor.

ILLITERACY IN PICKAWAY COUNTY

One of the greatest measures of elementary school efficiency is literacy. In order to see whether the schools of our county have attained this efficiency, we must look at the statistics taken from the federal census report for 1910.

The report for 1920 is not out. We find that the total number of illiterates in Pickaway county is 824 and that 461 of these are native born whites. This is certainly an unfavorable report for our county and we should endeavor to find the causes of this illiteracy and then help remove this disgrace.—Circleville Union Herald.

Newspapers Drop Into Tie for Second Place With No-Stars When Upholsterers' Take Two Out of Three Games Before Large Crowd.

By taking two out of three games from the Newspapers on the Y. M. C. A. alleys Friday evening the Upholsterers strengthened their hold on first place.

The Newspapers won the first but succumbed before the high scores chalked up in the next two games. In the three games the Upholsterers averaged 847 while the Newspapers averaged 808.

By losing to the Upholsterers the Newspapers dropped into a tie with the No-Stars for second place.

The games were witnessed by an unusually large crowd.

PRESENT POPE WITH PRESENTS

(By Associated Press)
Rome, (By Mail)—The Pope has received a special mission sent by Wazera Zauditu, Empress of Abyssinia and the Prince Regent, Ras Tafari Makonnen, bringing messages and presents from both. Mission was composed of French missionaries, to whose care the Ethiopian catholics are entrusted.

The presents included a processional cross in massive silver from the Empress and a pectoral crucifix in massive gold, from the Prince Regent. There was also another gold pectoral cross from the governor of Harrar to the Pope, and a silver gift crucifix from the Prince Regent to Cardinal Gasparri. All the presents are interesting specimens of Abyssinian craftsmanship.

WARRIORS TO PLAY ASSOCIATION TEAM

Another strong basket ball team comes to the Y. M. C. A. next Wednesday evening to meet the Triangles. Manager McLean has scheduled the Springfield Warriors, a team of court men from the same Y. M. C. A. as the White Stars.

The Warriors claim to be stronger than the White Stars because of a victory which they boast over them. The White Stars, it will be remembered, defeated the Triangles here two weeks ago.

Practice has put the association team in splendid condition and the players are just now going their full stride as was evidenced by their victory over the Jamestown Barons by a large score last Wednesday evening.

WM. CONNER DIES AT THE AGE OF 92

At the advanced age of 92 years Mr. William Conner answered the eternal summons Friday evening at 6:00 o'clock, at his home one mile west of New Holland.

Mr. Conner, before his several years of retirement, was a farmer. Three of his six children, Leroy, James and Will, lived at home with the father, the others, Thomas, residing at Upper Sandusky; Mrs. Nan James, of Chillicothe; Ed Conner, at Lancaster.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday morning at 9:30 at St. Colman's Church. Burial will be made in St. Colman's cemetery.

Let's Get Together

One might think that Americans, whose government, the greatest on earth, is founded on the principle and application of unity, would have nothing further to learn of this great progressive force. But, as is the case of all other great utilitarian agencies, there is always something new to be learned and derived from its study.

Right now, perhaps, the United States stands as much in need of honest shoulder-to-shoulder co-operation among its people as it did during the great war.

An aftermath of the war has been a tendency on the part of the individual to pursue his own way without thought or concern for his fellow men, and the result has been almost without exception not only to the disadvantage of the community but to the individual as well.

It has been demonstrated time and again that the best results in prosperity building come from the united efforts of the group, whatever that group may be, and a better time to apply that principle probably never was.

Take our own town, for instance. It's a fine town—better far than most of its size. We think it's the best ten thousand town in Ohio or any other state. But it's not yet what it might be. There's room aplenty for advancement and improvement, a strengthened co-ordination of community interests would go far in this direction.

There is a much greater co-operation in business, industrial, religious and social circles now than there was a few years ago, and we are much better for it. But we can go further.

Competition, the life of progress, need not be of a cut-throat order. That's been shown and evidence of it is diminishing. We are learning the value of friendly competition. But we can get even closer together.

There is need of co-operation—not alone in the separate divisions of community life, but among these divisions. We should co-ordinate in all of our interests and stand together as a united town and a united county and not merely as a number of united but unrelated individual groups.

We are all proud of our town and our county and we want them to be the best. We are all, too, humanly anxious for our own personal success. Let us realize that the two ambitions are relative and that we can attain both through the same means—friendly co-operation.

Be Tolerant

A thing needed today just as much as in the dark ages is the spirit of tolerance.

We may not crucify the flesh or throw the victim to the lions, but how often there are evidences of the same intolerant spirit. Twentieth century civilization and veneer may prevent the same expression of vindictiveness when others refuse to accept our views or our beliefs or our pleasures, but the intolerance is right there just the same.

How many of us are willing to admit the other fellow may be just as honest, just as much entitled to his opinion when it is absolutely contrary to ours?

Yet we all know that opinions are largely moulded by early training and environment—we may not realize it, but inherited views have a way of clinging with great tenacity. He is the wise man who broadens his viewpoint by fair consideration of the opinions of others and does not permit himself to become "hide bound."

We brand a man as narrow, opinionated and contrary on one side, or ultra-liberal and too broad on the other—forgetting that it is the surroundings of his life that are largely responsible and that, if left to himself he would probably strike a happy medium and be less antagonistic in expressing his views.

Naturally we don't all like the same things—but that isn't any excuse for spoiling the other fellow's pleasure. Let him have the same right to enjoy the things he likes or to hold the views that he does that we arrogate to ourselves. Tolerance is a virtue in a class all by itself.

POETRY FOR TODAY

JOY

Like a mother's crooning lullaby,
When her heart is brooding in dreams
Like the fluttering fall of petals,
Or dew on silent streams;
Like filmy, visioned yearnings,
That float from dreamy bowers;
Like pensive shadows o'er a lake,
Or laggard wind o'er sleeping flowers;
So fell joy upon my spirit,
With tender restive touch.

Then it welled to surging strength,
Like a fount that bursts its source;
My spirit armed with conquering power,
To brave the unknown course.
How to share it spendthrift, happy wise,
In the heart of me I pondered,
When gushed from the pent-up current,
The vibrant answer, wondrous:
"Love the world—head its wounds."

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, chills, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit, 15c and 30c.

PANAMA TOLLS DISPUTE BEFORE CONGRESS AGAIN

Question of Exempting American Ships One of The Most Serious Subjects For Coming Session.

Tolls Act Figures Largely in The Discussion Between United States And Great Britain

Will Also Meet Sectional Opposition

BY MARK SULLIVAN
(Copyright 1921)

Washington, January 22. — It is most earnestly to be hoped that Ambassador Geddes, in reporting to his home government will avoid an error into which he might readily fall. It is true that the intention of Mr. Harding and other Republican leaders, to take advantage of our ownership of the Panama Canal by exempting our vessels from paying tolls, is in its nature an international matter and can only be accomplished in decency through diplomatic negotiation with Great Britain. But the motives which have brought this subject up just now are not international but wholly domestic. They are not only domestic; they are less than domestic. They are local. It is not unfriendliness to Great Britain that is behind it, but the local commercial interests of a comparatively small section of our country. There are so many issues between ourselves and Great Britain that if we can detach one of them from the spirit of controversy it will be useful.

Undoubtedly, if we take the step of exempting American ships from paying tolls at the Canal, the result will be to deny to British ships an equality of treatment they now enjoy. But the number of British ships affected will be small, and, except as a matter of principle the whole thing in its practical outcome will have only a minute effect on British interests. It is true that in connection with this subject Harding has announced a policy of making America "the greatest maritime shipping nation in the world." That policy if carried out, would be a matter of the gravest concern to Great Britain. It amounts to a determination to unseat Great Britain's dominance in what has been for generations the industry which forms the economic base of the empire's existence.

But such things as this come about not through declarations of policy but through the evolution of natural forces. Whether these forces are going to make us a greater maritime nation than Great Britain will be clearer several decades in the future than it is now. In any such process the exempting of American coastwise shipping from paying tolls at Panama would have an utterly negligible effect. Those who are behind this exemption act are not threatening Great Britain's maritime position. Their aim is nothing as large as that. Their aim is merely to give a little help to their lumber industry and to a few other industries on the Pacific coast.

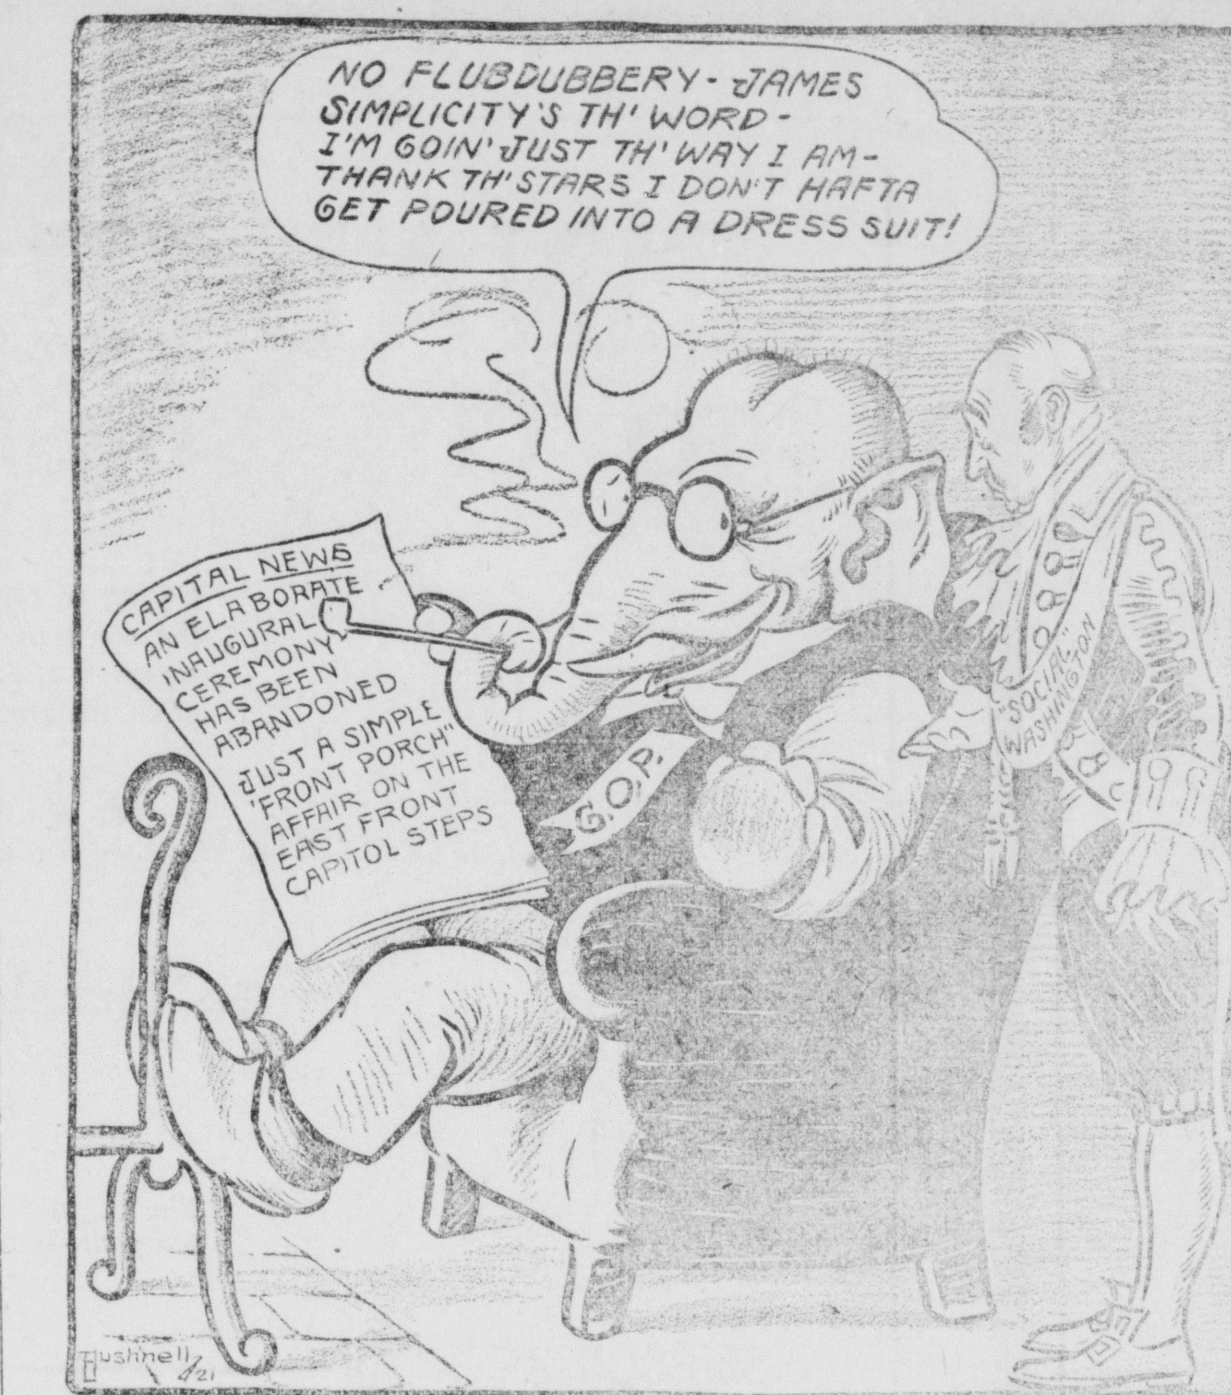

An Issue With Great Britain
Since this Panama Tolls Act figures largely not only in the present discussion of issues between ourselves and Great Britain but will also be the subject of one of the most serious controversies in the coming session of congress, it will be well to understand it.

When the United States decided nearly twenty years ago, to build the Panama Canal certain rights which Great Britain had long had at Panama became the subject of negotiation between our then secretary of state, John Hay, and the then British Ambassador, Sir Julian Pauncefote. The conclusion of these negotiations was expressed in a treaty between the two countries known as the "Hay-Pauncefote Treaty."

Thereafter we built the canal. When it was finished and congress passed the act covering the details of its operation, it was provided that American ships passing through the canal should be exempted from the payment of tolls. Soon afterward the point was raised that this exemption of American shipping was in conflict with the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, which provided for equal treatment of the vessels of all nations.

This point was for some time the subject of a discussion which was always hesitantly and never became heated. But President Wilson early in 1914 did a dramatic thing which served to give this issue an unfortunate air of mystery. One day in the spring of 1914 he sent for the senate committee on foreign affairs, saying that he wished to confer with them. The meeting in the White House had little of the nature of a conference, because in the beginning of it President Wilson adopted a manner and made a specific statement which foreclosed any questions or discussion on the senate committee.

That episode in 1914 was, by the way, the beginning of the feeling on the part of the senate committee on foreign affairs that they were not treated with frankness as equals—a feeling that had much to do with later events. The president said that a situation had arisen which was of grave importance and which made it most desirable that congress in deference to Great Britain, should repeal that part of the act for the operation of the Panama Canal which exempted American ships from the payment of tolls.

Senate Resented Secrecy

There was some resentment among members of the senate committee over President Wilson's failure to share with them whatever information he had and his asking them to take a step based on knowledge which he was unwilling to reveal even to them. There was much surmise as to just what Mr. Wilson had in his mind. One of the surmises had to do with Japan. Another was contained in a story which seemed incredible now, but may readily have been possible at that time, before the beginning of the great war. The story was to the effect that Germany had approached Great Britain with a proposal that Great Britain, Germany and France should insist upon their right to intervene in the disturbed and revolutionary state of affairs in Mexico. The story continued to the effect that Great Britain had refused to do anything which would seem unfriendly to the United States and that President Wilson, in return was eager to do a gracious thing which should show Great Britain our appreciation.

In any event, the bill for the repeal of the exemption to American ships was introduced and encountered much opposition in congress. To overcome this opposition, President Wilson again fell back upon the device of requesting that his wishes be met for reasons that he did not feel willing to disclose. The significant sentences from President Wilson's request which made congress willing to take action to which its judgment was opposed were these: "We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong, and so once more deserve our reputation for generosity and the redemption of every obligation without quibble or hesitation. I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the administration. I shall not know how to deal with matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence if you do not grant it to me in unshrinking measure."

In response to this cryptic urging the repeal bill was passed and since then American ships passing through the canal have been paying tolls the same as ships of every other nation. But there was always much restlessness on the part of members of congress, who were dubious over why had been done.

Undoubtedly, the matter would not have rested so long as it has but for the fact that only a few weeks later the great war began and submerged this issue.

When the two party platforms were written in 1916 the war was still on, and the subject was not mentioned. But when the Republicans came together for their convention last June the subject was again brought up. The Republican platform when adopted, contained a plank to the effect that the party, if put in power, would repeal the act and would exempt American ships engaged in coastwise traffic from paying tolls.

It is an illuminating commentary on how platforms are written and how things are done at party conventions that I asked nearly every one of the fifty-two members of the committee on resolutions of the Republican convention just how the plank happened to appear in the platform and who introduced it. Of the fifty-two members fully forty were as surprised as any outsider was to find the plank in the platform which they themselves had drafted, and only four knew anything of its origin.

The facts are that the plank was drafted by Senator Borah of Idaho and put in the platform almost wholly through the activity of him and Senator Smoot of Utah. Senator Jones of Washington was also instrumental.

In taking this action Senator Smoot and Senator Borah and Senator Jones had little thought of our foreign relations. With them it was wholly a domestic matter. Not merely a domestic matter but a local matter. It reflected the wish on the part of shippers of lumber and other heavy commodities on the Pacific Coast for an opportunity to send their goods to the markets of the eastern coast with the smallest possible expense for freight.

Sectional Opposition

Incidentally when the bill comes up for passage it will encounter a certain amount of opposition which will be just as local and sectional in its motive as the advocacy of the bill is. The shippers and other business men of the Mississippi Valley, who are compelled to rely on railroad transportation, feel that the passage of this act will give Pacific Coast shippers an unfair advantage over them.

A leading paper of the Middle West the Chicago Tribune, has said, "It is not good judgment, good diplomacy, good economics or good politics to free American ships from the Panama Canal tolls." This argument is based on the ground that the exemption would be unfair to inland cities, agricultural interests and manufacturers, who helped to pay, and are still helping to pay, for the construction of the canal.

When this Panama tolls bill comes up in congress the fight will be largely one of sectional interest. It will hang chiefly on freight rates and manufacturing costs. Of course, it will also have an international angle, for the thing cannot be done in honor without taking into consideration the old Hay-Pauncefote Treaty. On this latter point Republican leaders themselves differ. Elihu Root believes that we cannot exempt our ships consistent with the treaty. On the other hand, Ex-Senator George Sutherland of Utah, whom Senator Root holds to be as good a lawyer as himself, believes that a correct interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty does not forbid us to exempt American ships.

FARM NOTES

More mature sheds are needed on Ohio Farms.

A flock of 100 mature fowls require approximately 400 square feet of floor area. A house 16 feet wide, and 25 feet long will be satisfactory for a flock of this size.

One western Ohio farmer was recently offered $1.50 per ton for his straw, the purchaser to bear all expense of baling and hauling. At a conservative estimate it is worth more than twice that amount as a fertilizer alone.

MAKE OPPOSITION TO SMALLER ARMY

(By Associated Press)

Amsterdam, (By Mail)—Opposition to the reduction of the Dutch army has revived here because of fears that a Belgian invasion may result from failure of the two governments to reach an agreement in the long-standing boundary dispute under the treaty of 1839.

At a recent meeting of the society "Our Army," which includes most of the Dutch officers, men high in command of the Holland forces spoke strongly against a reduction of the army. One of them, Staff Captain Van Gansden, declared that a diminished army could not resist a Belgian invasion three months.

RANDOM NOTES

SOCIAL : PERSONAL MENTION : CLUBS

Mrs. Earl Barnett and Miss Myrtle McCoy assembled ten tables of guests for an afternoon of progressive Auction Bridge Friday.

It was a beautiful party, the far flung fragrance of narcissi, mingled with the stavia wafted throughout the rooms while the guests enjoyed the stimulating game and the charming hospitality of the hostesses.

Bringing the game to a close there was a temptingly devised tribute to the innerman, in which was prettily introduced the green and white color scheme.

The central adornment of each small table was an exquisite hand painted nut basket, designed and painted by Miss McCoy and eliciting the warm admiration of the guests.

Assisting in the hospitalities were Mesdames E. A. McCoy, Walter Jones, Ed Fite, Clarence N. Craig and Horace C. Ireland.

The Lucky Girls Club of the Wilson School on the Greenfield pike, surprised and delighted Principal O. O. Bush, the teachers Miss Elizabeth Davis, Mrs. Martha Minnick Vincent and Mr. Sherman Bishop, and their bothers and sisters Friday noon by serving a delicious three-course dinner at the noon hour.

The girls had planned, cooked and served the dinner entirely without assistance and were fully entitled to all the bouquets handed them. Everything was well cooked and fifty people, who were served with the utmost promptness, pronounced it one of the best dinners ever sampled.

The large basement provided an attractive dining room.

The following girls comprise the Lucky Girls Club: Marjorie Wilson, Treasurer; Mildred DeBoer, Secretary; Jean West, Vice President; Francis Gung, President; Dorothy McCoy, Elizabeth Wilson, Mary Aldus, Mary Ray, Mable Hooks, Mable Engle, Iona Kelly, Lillian McCoy, Helen McCoy, Opal Dawson, Hazel Armbrust, Margaret Skinner, Nellie Whitmer, Ruby Pendgraft, Enda Bunch, Doris Lane, Ruth Kearney, Louise Williams.

Mrs. W. H. Lipsett closed a quartet of most attractive parties with a very beautiful six o'clock dinner Friday.

Covers were laid for Mesdames Carrie B. Willis, Any Hudson, Frank Jackson, Arthur Burgett, Karl B. Alexander, Lulu Sheets, Austin F. Hopkins, Dr. Lucy Pine, Miss Edith Gardner.

Spring flowers in lovely arrangement and crystal candlesticks with pink candles beautified the table and elaborate dinner courses were served.

The last of a trio of Progressive Bridge parties, each a charming replica of the other in fascinating arrangements and cordial hospitality, was Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. R. R. Kibler won the favor in the game—a corsage bouquet.

Mrs. Taylor catered throughout the series.

The Monthly meeting of the MacDowell Club was held at the home of Miss Ethel Powell Friday afternoon, with Vivian and Lamoine Everett, children of Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Everett, host and hostess for the day.

Musical current events were well given by each member and there was the usual harmony drill.

Jean Worthington gave admirably, without notes, a sketch of George Frederick Handel.

The following musical program was beautifully given:

Piano Solo—Witches—James H. Rodgers.

Song—Last Night—Mary Hanna Bliss.

Violin Obligato—Gwendolin Wolfe.

Piano—Gavotte Friml—Beata Haines.

Piano—Elves—James H. Rogers.

Jean Worthington.

There were a few guests who fully enjoyed both the program and particularly delicious refreshments served by the host and hostess of the afternoon.

Friends of Mr. Harry Victor Plate, electrical engineer with the Washington Gas and Electric Co., a couple of years ago, will be interested to learn of his recent marriage to Miss Lillian Cross, of Shawnee, Oklahoma.

In honor of their Golden wedding anniversary on the 19th of Jan. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grimes, of Delaware, Ohio, entertained 28 relatives at dinner. The bridal procession formed and marched to the dining room to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Chas May of Circleville.

Relatives who attended from this vicinity were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Grimes, New Holland; Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap, Williamsport; Mrs. Lulu Hyde Huston, Dayton; Miss Florence Grimes, New Holland; Mrs. J. B. May, New Holland; Mrs. Chas. Clifton, New Holland; Mrs. Ella Grimes, New Holland.

Leon Trotzky, Russian war minister, is engaged to Mlle. Specievtzova, ballet dancer well known in New York according to very reliable reports from prominent Russian citizens who have just arrived in Paris.

The engagement, it is said, has been officials known to Moscow since October, although the first news of it came to Europe today.

The romance, according to the arrivals, started last spring when the 20-year-old blonde first appeared in the Moscow Opera House in the secondary part in "The Rose Dream Ballet."

Trotzky, it is related, fell in love at first sight with the dancer and they became engaged secretly. Simultaneously it was arranged for young artist to be given the first roles in the productions in which she appears.

"The Village Gossip" in the Cincinnati Post, under the head of "A Proper Bawl-out," hands out the following:

One of the prettiest and most enjoyable dancing parties ever held in the Army was the dance given by the Spoofters last Friday night. The music furnished by Smith's orchestra, was all that could be desired, and the large number present enjoyed every minute.

Perhaps the most impressive feature of the party was the beautiful gowns of the young ladies—many of them new and elaborate. This feature certainly added materially to the pleasure of the evening. In this connection it may be appropriately noted that some half dozen young men wore their evening suits—and the reporter was impressed with the fact that a few young men did appreciate the "finess of things." One of the most incongruous scenes imaginable is a hundred young ladies in evening gowns and an equal number of swains in business suits. It is a distinct discourtesy to the lady. If the boys expect the girls to dress their prettiest, the boys should make an effort to acknowledge and encourage it. If any society expects to make a success of its dances it must do so with the help and endorsement of the ladies—and they should insist on that recognition which ordinary courtesy demands, because it is just as easy for the man to wear his dress suit as it is for the lady to wear an evening gown.

The Frank E. Haines home on Washington Avenue has been the scene of numerous social affairs, but the surprise party given for Mr. Haines by his wife in honor of his birthday, Friday night, was altogether in a class by itself—one of the most successful and jolliest among the many for which these hospitable entertainers have been sponsors.

A few of the old friends of the Sugar Creek neighborhood came in apparently for an informal visit, and Mr. Haines was utterly surprised when a throng of fifty guests poured in with merry congratulations. He was also showered with "foolish gifts" which provoked fun galore.

For the evening the guests forgot that they were "grown ups" and played games and put on stunts with all the zest of their youthful days. The men serenaded the honor guest lustily.

The evening was a tremendous success, Mrs. Haines assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Hays Dill, Mrs. Jean Nisley and Miss Beata in carrying out the arrangements.

A two course lunch was bountifully served and narcissi and spring flowers together with potted plants in full bloom added bright color to the spacious rooms.

Never were "many more happy returns" more heartily wished than those which the guests left with their host and hostess, both of whom are exceedingly popular with their large circle of friends.

More than fifty women gathered at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, Friday afternoon, for a combined meeting of the Washington and Sugar Grove Unions of the W. C. T. U. There were a number of welcome visitors.

Mrs. John Van Gundy and Mrs. Ed Darlington, Presidents, were in charge with the devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. William Patton, Mrs. Darlington announced the program.

Miss Edith Gardner's paper, "Beginning of the Crusade," was splendid and of special interest in giving authentic information concerning this noted Temperance movement, and recalled a thrilling epoch in Washington's history. Mrs. J. L. Cadwallader followed with a well written paper on "How the Work has Spread to Foreign Lands"—explaining the methods and accomplishments of the work.

Mrs. Jean Nisley (Juanita Haines) gave a very entertaining reading, "Miranda on the Blessings of Trouble."

"Americanization," which is particularly of public interest at this time was the title of Mrs. Darlington's well compiled paper. Mrs. Frank E. Haines very ably discussed the important subject of "Law Enforcement."

Mrs. Alice Taggart, County president made a short talk at the program's close, and the remainder of the meeting was spent in visiting and exchange of greetings. Delicious refreshments were served.

The year 1821 saw the birth of numerous women whose lives and works were of great influence upon the social, moral and intellectual progress of their age. Following is a list of some of these eminent women whose centenaries will be observed during the year about to begin:

Clara Barton, civil war nurse and founder of the American Red Cross society.

Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science.

Elizabeth Blackwell, the first woman to obtain a medical degree in America.

Rachel (Elizabeth Rachel Felix), one of the greatest actresses of the 19th century.

Clara Angela Macdonald, composer of the famous anthem, "By the Waters of Babylon."

Elizabeth Rowell Thompson American philanthropist and temperance advocate.

Mrs. Anna Gilbert, an actress who enjoyed the admiration, esteem and affection of thousands of American playgoers.

Charlotte H. Sainton-Dolby, English contralto singer, for whom the contralto music in Mendelssohn's "Elijah" was written.

Isabella Banks, author of numerous popular novels, and mother-in-law of the famous novelist, William Black.

Charlotte Maria Tucker, an English author whose stories for children were widely read both in England and America.

Lady Lucy Duff-Gordon, English author and translator, originator of the celebrated "Letters from Egypt."

Graceanna Lewis, celebrated naturalist and also a leader in many reform and philanthropic movements in America.

Maria White Lowell, wife of James Russell Lowell, and herself the author of several volumes of exquisite verse.

Abby Morton Diaz, American lecturer, reformer and author of numerous books for children.

The informal dance given by Jimmie Dice's, "Pepsters" Friday evening, at the K of P. Hall was attended by sixty couples, including guests from Wilmington, Jamestown, New Holland and Sabina.

The unique orchestra made a tremendous hit, and featured all the late dance favorites—especially popular were the fox trots, "Margie," "Kismet" and "Chill Bean," and the waltz, "On the Lagoon" came in for its share of encores.

"The Pepsters" played with all the vim in the world. They were: Jimmie Dice, drums; Miss Mabel Sunkle, piano; Oliver Tracey, Saxophone; Miss Gwendolyn Wolfe, violin; Ray Snider, banjo; Mr. and Mrs. George Sunkle were chaperones.

The committee will give another dance within the next two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sturgeon have as their week end guests, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Grove and daughter of Jeffersonville, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dorn and daughter, of Sadalia.

Mr. L. A. McCoy arrived Friday evening from Akron, to spend the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McCoy, and his little son Owen, who is spending the winter with his grand parents.

Mr. Naylor Cook came down from Columbus, Friday evening, for the dance given by Jimmie Dice's "Pepsters."

Mrs. J. Edmund Smith is entertaining for the week end her mother, Mrs. Myers, and sister, Mrs. Glenn Arnold, of Springfield.

Mr. Eugene Bliss arrived Thursday evening from Cleveland for a ten days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bliss and sisters, Misses Mary Hanna and Florence.

Speaking of Tires, Quality Always Talks Loudest

Good, dependable, standard, mileage-giving tires are always worth the money paid, providing of course, the price is not robbery. But in the main, Mr. Motorist—don't you usually buy on the quality basis rather than price alone?

If you do, we are desirous of quoting you prices on tires that we know will prove thoroughly satisfactory to you, both as to quality and price. If you really buy your tires on the cost-per-mile basis and demand that that cost shall be the lowest, then come to us and we will fit you out. At any rate, there is no obligation for investigation.

SEE BIG SWINDLE FOR THESE "HEIRS"

For sometime disquieting reports for Chillicothe citizens have been coming from various points of the activities of "heirs" to part of the land upon which Chillicothe now stands who think they are entitled to the valuable property, and are arranging for a legal fight—or at least think they are.

It develops that the scheme may be one similar to that perpetrated on the Baker "heirs" who were told that they were entitled to a portion of the land upon which Philadelphia now stands. The Baker heirs, hundreds in number, were so impressed by the discovery that they raised $23,000 for legal expenses in obtaining their "rights." The consequence was that the men back of the proposal are said to have pocketed the $23,000 and allowed the affair to drop without further effort.

The year 1821 saw the birth of numerous women whose lives and works were of great influence upon the social, moral and intellectual progress of their age. Following is a list of some of these eminent women whose centenaries will be observed during the year about to begin:

Clara Barton, civil war nurse and founder of the American Red Cross society.

TEAMS KNOTTED IN PERCENTAGE

With the seventh week of the Y. M. C. A. bowling league schedule at a close the standing finds the Upholsterers firmly entrenched in first place.

Three positions are tied in percentage. In second place the Newspapers and the No-Stars are side by side. On down the line in order the Business Men, Y. M. C. A., and the Lumbermen hold their respective positions and then comes another tie between the Daylight team and the Bankers. The third tie exists between the Sunlight rollers and the Ortmann Motor Company in last place.

In plus averaged per game the Upholsterers lead with 814, with the other teams as follows: No-Stars 808; Newspapers 769; Business Men 765; Bankers 751; Y. M. C. A. 729; Lumbermen 727; Daylight 723; Sunlight 720; Ortmann 699.

UNDERTAKER UNDER ARREST HAD MUCH BOOZE

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, January 22.—Checking up today on liquor they seized at the undertaking parlors of Jackson & Harris, prohibition enforcement agents listed nearly 100 gallons of various kinds of liquor.

Smiles instead of tears were on the faces of visitors to the undertakers, neighbors noticed, and a squad of prohibition agents arrived suddenly.

In a purple casket lined with light gray satin, three dozen quarts of high grade Scotch whisky reposed.

More whisky was found in a body-basket, while the casket closets lining the rear room of the establishment were loaded with cases of whisky, the agents said. Sam Harris, one of the partners, was arrested.

RESOLUTION TO STOP RECRUITS ADOPTED TODAY

(By Associated Press)
Washington, January 22.—The House resolution fixing the peacetime strength of the army at 175,000 men by directing the Secretary of War to stop recruiting until the force is reduced to that size was adopted today by the Senate and sent to the White House.

In the usual course the resolution will be referred to Secretary Baker, who, it is understood, is prepared to recommend to the President that the resolution be approved.

FOUR SUSPECTS UNDER ARREST FOR FUR THEFT

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, January 22.—Four men and a woman believed by the police to have been responsible for more than thirty fur robberies during the last two months involving loot between $200,000 and $350,000, were arrested today.

Elmer Johnson, one of the suspects, according to the police, answers the description of one of the slayers of Paul Lobenz, a jeweler, who was shot and killed during a hold-up several weeks ago.

3000 IN BIG FOX DRIVE AT MADISON MILLS

Four Foxes Enclosed In Ring Fall Easy Prey To Men and Boys.

Muddy Fields and Rainfall Fail To Dampen Enthusiasm of Those Taking Part.

Big Ox Roast Follows Closing of Ring—Several Foxes Escape From Ring.

Undaunted by a downpour of rain that made walking across corn and stubble fields a veritable nightmare, three thousand men and boys took part in the big fox drive at Madison Mills, Saturday, and when the great ring was closed on the Mahan farm south of Madison Mills, four bedraggled foxes were found inside and fell easy prey to the men and boys armed with clubs.

Early in the morning automobile loads began to arrive on the scene and occupants of the machines were distributed along the 25 to 30 miles of front to be covered in the drive and at the appointed hour the huge ring of human beings started the slow process of closing in. At the beginning in some parts of the ring the men and boys were so widely scattered that it is believed several foxes made their escape without difficulty and allowed the ring to continue to ward the point of meeting without these sly foxes.

The captives had their men well under control, and remarkably few cases of disobedience to the captains orders were reported.

The corn fields and other fields where there was no grass were almost bottomless—in fact some hundreds of fellows who were forced to negotiate them declare there was no bottom to the fields, and went over their shoe tops in the mud. But they pressed on like so many doughboys in their chase of the Germans through the fields of France.

Horns, whistles and numerous other noise-making devices were brought in to play, and on all sides the noise could be heard, mingled with the yell of enthusiastic men and boys, all eager to chase Mr. Reynard from his lair and keep him moving. Dogs and guns were taboo.

If going for the men and boys was slow and tiresome, it was likewise tiresome for the foxes, as the foxes had not proceeded far until their heavy tails were soaked with water and retarded their pace.

From the Danville pike on the west to the Waterloo pike on the east, and from the Yankeetown and Bethel road on the north to the Waterloo pike on the south, the three thousand men and boys poured across fields and fence streams and stickiness toward the Mahan farm. A large number from this city were included among the drivers.

Generalissimo M. W. Eckle had stationed himself near the point where the ring was to close, and by outcries and telephones kept in close touch with the progress of the drive, holding the ring back here and there to prevent it getting ahead of the other portions of the ring.

A great number of machines, containing parties who failed to get on the scene in time for the drive, or who did not wish to brave the mud of the fields and the bars of the wire fences, parked near where the final scenes of the drive were to be staged prior to the ox roast at the township house in Madison Mills.

Line after line of men, boys, women and girls, were converging toward a flag pole in the center of a great blue grass pasture on the Mahan farm when the foxes first made their appearance. A dozen or more scared rabbits were allowed to escape.

Dragging their great wet tails the animals made but little effort to escape as the shouting thousands bore down upon them. Two were killed and one was taken alive. Another had been taken in a culvert a few minutes before.

The animals were taken to the K. of P. Hall at Madison Mills, where they were auctioned off by Col. M. W. Eckle. The proceeds were donated to the Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church.

An ox had been killed and prepared for the hungry thousands. It was served in the K. of P. Hall by the women of the Ladies Aid. For over an hour the hunters filed through the building, each one getting a sandwich, a doughnut and a cup of hot coffee. So great was the jam that two men were stationed at the door in holding back the crowd.

It was one of the biggest days Madison Mills will ever experience. At the completion of the drive the little village was so filled that autos were able to leave only by one road. The Columbus pike for two miles outside the town was occupied by cars, trucks and all other kinds of vehicles. In this crowd were hundreds from outside the county and even from places as far as Columbus.

Dozens of game wardens were in the crowd and sportsmen from this and adjoining counties also took part.

FIRST SELF-SERVE GROCERY IN COUNTY OPENS UP SATURDAY

The first "Self Serve Grocery" in Fayette county was opened Saturday morning by the Peddicord Grocery Company at the regular place of business on North Main Street.

Everyone waited on themselves. The style of service is cafeteria with the same methods used in the self-serve grocery as in the popular up-to-date restaurant.

Entering an aisle with goods displayed along both sides the customers continue a circuit of the entire store. All good carried in the regular grocery are attractively displayed with the price tag.

For those who come equipped to carry their purchases a ready supply of convenient sized baskets are kept at hand.

The self-serve grocery does not deliver. All purchases must be taken from store. Clerks assist customers in their buying and a cash girl at the door checks up the amount due.

HUGE TURTLE

ROOT IN FAVOR OF WAITING FOR HARDING REGIME

(By Associated Press)
Washington, January 22.—The question of total or partial disarmament should not be discussed by the United States with other nations pending a change of administration March 4. Elihu Root, who helped to form the International Court of Arbitration under the League of Nations, declared today in a letter to Chairman Butler of the House Naval Committee.

The precise method of procedure, Mr. Root said, ought to be determined after, and not before Mr. Harding and his secretary of state have had an opportunity to inform themselves and to reach conclusions as to the way which affords the best prospect of success.

Mr. Root declared his strong belief that steps should be taken promptly after the new administration is established to bring about a general agreement for disarmament.

CAPACITY HOUSE HEARS ARCHDEACON AT ST. ANDREWS

Another capacity house heard Archdeacon Dodson's gospel sermon, on "The Rich Young Ruler" Friday night at St. Andrews.

The preacher said in part: "At some time or other we all seek the answer to the question, that disturbed the Rich Young Ruler, 'What shall I do to inherit eternal life?' It is the instinct implanted in man to seek for happiness and the only happiness that satisfies that great search is in finding Christ, in His Church and the Sacraments. You may not have committed any great crime and in your own estimation, you may be a pretty good fellow, but like the rich young ruler, you lack the one thing needful, Jesus Christ and His salvation."

The Archdeacon used the pipe organ for his illustration, with its beautiful stops and decorated pipes, good to look at, but absolutely a failure until the organist touches the keys.

Let the Holy Spirit which is in the breath of God direct and control their actions, and the sweetest melodies, which are in tune with heavenly music will come forth, and they will know what it means to be supremely happy.

"The rich young ruler turned away sorrowfully from Christ, because he had great possessions. He loved his riches more than he loved eternal life and like Felix, he could not stand the test. Men keep away from God today, because there are things in their lives that come between them and the Savior, like an eclipse which shuts out the sunshine. It is the teaching of Christ that man must first seek the Kingdom of God before true happiness can be attained."

Saturday evening the Archdeacon will preach on "Amusements."

Sunday will be your last opportunity to hear Archdeacon Dodson. Service Sunday morning will begin at 10:30; the subject is "The Greatest Commission in the World's History." Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock the final service will be held. The preacher's topic will be "Church Unity."

GOOD GASOLINE AND GOOD OIL
MAKE A GOOD MOTOR BETTER

LIBERTY GASOLINE
JESCO MOTOR OIL
TIPTOP GASOLINE

WHEN QUALITY COSTS NO MORE --- WHY HESITATE?

It's good economy to buy on a quality basis any time, but when quality costs no more to get than the ordinary it's more than economy—it's then a bargain.

Then why, motorist, do you not insist, and see that you get quality in the fuel you use daily. It's easy to obtain, at no greater cost—

Liberty Gasoline or Tiptop High Test are the peak of quality in their field, and their cost is no more than the ordinary; really less, considering what they give.

TIPTOP is a real high test gas, and LIBERTY is the reliable, straight run commercial gasoline, so satisfactory it has won hundreds of converts.

NATIONAL THRIFT WEEK

The next time you get paid

—that church down the street, dedicated to your community's religious welfare, will need resources for effective service.

—that hospital, which must restore to health the sick and injured, will require the means to carry on.

—that college, where you want to give your boy a real start in life, will be looking for endowments and scholarships.

—listless, heavy-eyed children will be longing for a place to play.

—the Y. M. C. A. and other similar agencies, devoted to character-building enterprises, will deserve financial support.

—three and a half million children in Europe will be going hungry.

—and the people of the earth's dark places will struggle along without the warm, friendly light of the Gospel.

Now and then such things touch you. But in the hurly-burly of modern life we've not given such matters enough thought.

There's no better time than today to think this thing through. Take time to decide what you will give to such fine causes as these—lay out a real program—make it regular, systematic—and then stick to it!

In Bible times one-tenth of the income went to the Lord. Nowadays the income tax authorities exempt up to fifteen per cent of your income for worthy causes. But what you give is a matter for you alone to say. Without doubt, many can give more than fifteen per cent. It might be a hardship for others to set aside even one-tenth.

Find out for yourself on this Share-With-Others Day that it IS more blessed to give than to receive. See how much happier you will be—how much more you'll get out of life—beginning today!

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Be the Best Medicine for Girls and Women

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I had such awful pains in my back I could hardly stand on my feet and I was never without a headache. If I walked up town I thought I would drop and many a time I felt so bad I had to go to bed and I was not able to do much of my housework.
 I would have hemorrhages every two weeks and dragging down pains. I had been feeling badly for three years and had two of the best doctors in the city, but I kept getting worse and only weighed 125 pounds. I saw your advertisement and I took eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets, four bottles Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and your Liver Pills and noticed an improvement right away.
 Now I weigh 188 pounds and feel fine.
 Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say,
 'Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject.' I will always have a good word for your medicine and you may use my name whenever you wish."

MEGAPHONE "ARTIST" IN OLD DAYS HELPS RAISE CENTENNIAL GIFT TO AMHERST

Eugene S. Wilson, at right, and Arthur Curtiss James.

A megaphone "artist" in old Amherst days, Eugene S. Wilson, then affectionately known as "Tug," has extended his field of auditors. He is now vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and can make himself heard anywhere. He is shown talking to Arthur Curtiss James, commodore of the New York Yacht club, attending an Amherst rally of alumni in the interest of their $3,000,000 centennial gift to the college. Wilson still has his megaphone, the picture shows.

POWERFUL GREEK
BEATS ARMENIAN

Giant Armenian Forced to Give Up By Terrific Pressure of the Toe Hold

In the presence of a large audience at Memorial Hall, Friday night, local fans were given a genuine treat when George Kotsionaros, powerful Greek, and Bob Monogoff, equally powerful Armenian met on the mat and exerted themselves for one hour and ten minutes before the one-fall decision was given to the Greek when the Armenian gave up under pressure of a vicious toe-hold.

Both men weighed around the 200 mark, and while Monogoff loomed above his opponent, Kotsionaros showed more muscle, being one of the most powerfully muscled wrestlers ever appearing on the local mat. Their wrestling was unusually clean from start to finish. Monogoff worked the double wrist lock, toe hold and head lock time after time, and only the tremendous strength of Kotsionaros saved him from the count.

Kotsionaros was equally proficient with the headlock, and a time or two made his opponent writhe in endeavoring to squirm out of a double-wrist lock. His head holds and scissors holds were frequent, but the huge Armenian, by sheer strength, slipped to safety just as the referee and audience believed him about to take the count as loser.

What Monogoff lacked in speed he made up in skill and strength, and Kotsionaros displayed more speed and was usually the aggressor. However, he always found his opponent nearby and ready to give and take in utmost good humor.

Monogoff came out of a number of dangerous holds by applying pressure on the Greek's toe and forcing speedy release.

Everything went well until Kotsionaros applied a vicious toe-hold which Monogoff could not shake loose and which threatened to put the big fellow's leg out of commission. The Armenian gave up and referee Chester Stand, of Columbus, gave the decision to the Greek.

Th Armenian vigorously protested against continued pressure upon his foot after the decision had been given to the Greek, and Kotsionaros stated that he was not sure it was the referee who was pounding him on the back as an indication of victory.

Both men are among the best obtainable, and while most of the fans were expecting a two-fall bout, they nevertheless expressed pleasure over the result.

Th bouts, which are being put on under auspices of the American legion are to be maintained on a high level, and contestants really worth while are to be booked each time, it is stated.
 Monogoff meets Cliff Binckley in Columbus for a finish bout Saturday night.

STILL HOLDING
VERNON MORRIS

Vernon Morris, of Columbus, is still being held by the local authorities, and probably will be given a hearing late Saturday or early Monday on a charge of operating an automobile without the owner's consent.

It is expected that during the day the insurance adjusters interested in Morris' case will be on the scene.

WOMEN BANDITS
BECOME NUMEROUS

(By Associated Press)
 Paris, (By Mail)—Women bandits are becoming nearly as numerous as their male counterparts in France and a number of them have already been arrested.

The police have just arrested a gang of burglars who have long been wanted by the authorities for housebreaking in the suburbs and discovered that the gang was lead by a widow aged 54 and her three sons. Another of the burglars was aided by his sister and two other women formed part of the band.

Many of the robberies were accompanied by particularly brutal assaults.

The pain of parting is experienced by the small boy when his mother attempts to comb his hair.

MANY SUSPECTS
DRIVEN TO DUBLIN
FOR ROUND-UP

Dublin (By Mail)—A good deal of the military and police activity in Dublin in raiding all sorts of houses is explained by the fact that the government has rounded into the city many of the suspected men.

There were men in most districts of Ireland who were sought by the police. They were, in the Irish phrase, "on their keeping" and it is tradition in Ireland that any man "on the run" from the government is entitled to sanctuary. Many persons, even those who disapprove of outrages, share this feeling and would be willing to harbor such men without inquiry.

The pressure of the police and military throughout the provinces has been so close that no country district is safe for the fugitives. Some of them have sought refuge in dugouts in the hills, and the risk of receiving them in a house and the ter-or of a visit from the Black and Tans is so great that many of the men suspected have been gradually hunted into Dublin. Here they are diligently searched for day and night and few of them, it is believed, ever spend two night running in the same bed.
